THE BROOKLYN CHILDREN'S GALA DAY. ANNUAL MAY WALK OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS-EIGHT DIVISIONS IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE CITY.

A cloudless sky, with a warmth of the sun tempered by a pleasant breeze, made yesterday a nearly perfect day for the Sunday School parade in Brooklyn. The 162 Sunday School of the city (not including the six Eastern District Wards) were represented by about 55,000 children and teachers, who marched in eight divisions. The largest, numbering about 12,000, assembled on the Long Meadow in Prospect Park, where the gay dresses of the girls and their parasols of all colors contrasted brilliantly with the green turf, and the waving banners and flars were thrown in strong relief against the foliage of tree and shrub. Lines of ropes and guidons showed where the children were to march, and a viewing stand was erected in the middle of the green. Early in the day the various schools began to assemble at their churches, whence they went to the Park in street cars, and pienicked in the groves. It was estimated that about 20,000 persons reviewed the parade in the Park, the roadways being jammed with carriages, and every available point for sightseeing being occupied. Upon the reviewing stand were Mayor Low, the Kev. T. A. Nelson, Grand Marshal I. A. Barker, George A. Ball and others. The children assembled in three sections and sang the anniversary hymns. Addresses were made by Corporal James Tanner and others, and then the march began, occupying more than an hour in passing a given point. After the parade

The employes denied that they threw him down the stairs, but said that he was drunk and fell down. Hartigan lives at No. 39 Monroe-st., with his parents, whom he supports.

A NEW STEAMSHIP LINE TO ST. JOHN'S. The steamer City of Mexico, the pioneer vessel of be New-York, Halifax and St. John's Steamship Line, sailed from here yesterday with a full cargo and a fair number of passengers. The vessel was recently thoroughly overhanied and the inspectors pronounced her in perfect order. The company was recently formed with the object of establishing and working a regular line of steamers between New-York, Halifax and St. John's, the growing commerce and steadily increasing traffic having demanded an efficient line. The new line is under the American flag, and it is intended to add other vessels and establish regular sailings of about twice a month. The principal articles of trade from New-York are flour, corn meal, pork, beef, butter, grain, kerosene, caitle and sheep. The total amount of flour taken to St. John's last year was 350,000 barrels, and other things in proportion.

JOHN JASPER GETS AN EXTRA $1,000. The Board of Education yesterday increased the salary of the City Superintendent of Schools from $6,500 to $7,500, and then unantimously re-elected John Jasper for two years. The purchase of a house and let in West Tenth-st., between Greenwich and Washington sts., at $12,000, was recommended; and also the purchase of a house and let on the north side of One-hundred-and-twenty-seventh-st., in the rear of Grammar School No. 68, for $7,500. The site in Tenth-st. is to be used for an enlargement of Primary School No. 7, and the trustees were authorized to make the alteration. The trustees of several wards were empowered to make changes in their school buildings.

DR. NEWMAN'S CHURCH AGAIN IN TROUBLE. THE FORECLOSURE OF A MORTGAGE THREATENED -NO FUNDS TO MEET INTEREST.

The Madison Avenue Congregational Church cost in the neighborhood of $290,000. Deacon Ranney and his friends paid $120,000, and the remaining $80,000 was fornished by the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and was secured by a mortgage for that amount on the property. The interest is payable semi-annually and on March I six months interest, amounting to $2,400, was owed to the insurance company. And it is still owing to it, although Dr. Newman's friends say that the church was never in a better financial condition than at present. The immediate consequence of the interest on the mortgage being overdue will be a suit for foreclosure brought by Mr. Watson, the attorney for the insurance company, and then whichever party can raise sufficient money to bid the church in will have a clear title to its possession. The Ladies' Aid Society was organized for the express purpose of accummulating sufficient money to pay, at least, the interest on the mortgage; but early in the year Dr. Newman's friends in the Board of Trustees found that his salary was not forthcoming and induced the Aid Society to give $4,000, all the money in its treasury, for the parpose of supporting Dr. Newman. The result is that the foreclosure is hanging over the heads of the persons boast interested in the church, and they have not the requisite amount of money to guard their building from it.

Notwithstanding this danger of losing the building Dr. Newman's friends are waiting quietly for the foreclosure. Deacon Foster is also waiting for something, but what, he doesn't seem to know. He remarked to a Thibune reporter yesterday:

I know nothing about the foreclosure. I have nothing to do with it and we will not do anything until the insurance company takes some action in the matter.

"Are Dr. Newman's friends prepared to pay the interest on the mortgage!"

MISS JONES'S JOKE ON THE SURROGATE.

SHE THINKS SHE GOT THE BEST OF HIM-WARDEN "PHIL'S" RIVAL.

The Maltese cats whose caterwauling makes the life of the prisoners in Ludlow Street Jail a brick-bound satire upon life in general were seared away from the picketed prison wall at 5:25 o'clock yesterday morning by Miss Rebecca Jones. She was clad in all her loveliness and the caus couldn't stand it—so they departed. Then she read the newspapers, and pendered on the emptiness of the world. After her morning walk she ate a hearty breakfast and received Mr. Mitchell, whom she described as "an English batchelor whom I met in England many—many years ago." Mr. Mitchell is evidently a rival of Warden "Phil" for the possession of her affections, for he brought her two bunches of roses and her cell was made fragrant all day by the perfume of the roses. Later, Miss Becky sent an order to a linen-draper up town for a window curtain and received a marvellous piece of "lace insertion" which she gravely tacked up to the window and surveyed with the content of an amateur house decenter. Finally, at dusk, as the gesse in the Jewish province over in Essex-st, were venting their evening cackle. Miss Becky retired to the privacy of her conchand

I think I got the best of him there. Mr. Bartlett was very kind to me in the court-room, and I wish I could tell him what he wants—but I won't. I asked him what he wanted to know, and he said everything. I told him that I didn't know it. So you see I don't know what he wants. But even if I did I won't say anything until the resurrection day.

INSURANCE NEWS AND INCIDENTS.

At the meeting of the New-York Board of Fire Underwriters yesterday the newly-elected president of the Board, Nicholas C. Miller, president of the Star Fire Insurance Company, took possession of his office. In a few preliminary remarks he condemned the practice of the fire insurance companies in writing what is technically known as "term business"; that is, writing policies for three or five years at reduced rates of premiums. To this practice he traced the present unsatisfactory and unprofitable condition of fire insurance, and he recommended to the consideration of the members of the Board that some measure be devised and some action taken whereby an end should be put to it. He also urged greater vigilance in collecting outstanding premiums from month to month, and showed how, by leaving unnecessarily large balances in the hands of agents, the companion of the companions of the grade previous profession of the part of the profit of the premiums from month to month, and showed how, by leaving unnecessarily large balances in the hands of agents, the companions of the grade providerable bases.

large balances in the hands of agents, the companies suffered considerable losses.

The electric lighting apparains at the new Produce Exchange has been found to behave in an exceedingly peculiar manner, to the discominare of the fire insurance companies who have written heavy lines on that building at phenomenally low rates. One or two incipient fires have occurred in wholly new and unforseen ways. Ares have formed between the electric conductors and adjacent metals which are said to be explainable by no known electric laws. President Anderson, of the Mercantile Insurance Company, and Thomas A. Edison are studying these peculiar manifestations of the electric fluid; one in the interest of fire insurance companies, who desire to know all about the fire hazard of electricity, and the other in the interest of electric science.

REJECTING BIDS FOR BROOKLYN BONDS
Brooklyn recently advertised to sell arrearage bonds amounting to $1,025,000, at 3½ per cent interest, the bonds to run forty years, but redeemable after ten years. When bids were opened only $700,000 were bid for at an average premium of 1 per cent. The remaining $925,000 was re-advertised at 4 per cent interest, on May 1. On Tuesday the bids were opened and it was found that only $150,000 was bid for, and in one instance it was proposed to take the bonds at par, the average being three-fourths of 1 per cent premium. Mayor Low and Controller Brinkerhoff decided yesterday to reject all the bids and wait until the money market is more settled before selling the bonds. On talking of the matter an official referred to the fact that New-York bonds sold at 98 and Troy bonds find no bidders as an indication that financiers were exceedingly cautious about investments.

Mayor Low said that the city believed it advantageous to decline all the bids in the present condition of the money market. He thought that the rate of interest would soon be lower and money much more plentiful than now, so it would be better for the city to wait than to sacrifice the bonds. They would certainly bring what they were thought to he worth. If people would not pay that they could do without them. REJECTING BIDS FOR BROOKLYN BONDS

CHARGES AGAINST A POLICE CAPTAIN.
Complaints against Police Captain Siebert, of the Thirtieth Precinct, to the effect that he used slanderons and threatening language toward. Ethelbert Wilson and his wife on March 12 and 14 were tried by Commissioner Mason yesterday. Wilson is a builder, living at No. 267 East. One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st. He made an agreement with Mrs. Rosanna W. Toon, a widow living at No. 263 West One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st., for a joint occupancy of her house. He was to pay the taxes on the property, furnish her with locard and give her besides $250 a year. Mrs. Toon sought advice from Captain Siebert, and showed him on March 12 a lease which she had signed, giving Wilson the unconditional right to occupy the house at an annual rental of $250. No mention was made of board or the payment of taxes. Captain Siebert toid her that the paper was not a proper one for the protection of her rights, and advised her not to give the Wilsons possession until correct papers had been signed. Mrs. Toon now is in possession of her house, and a civil suit is pending to decide Wilson's claims on Mrs. Toon, on account of the lease which she signed. The Wilsons testified yesterday that Captain Siebert said that if Mrs. Toon desired he could turn them out of the house, that "the lease showed on its face that Wilson would bear watching." Captain Siebert and Mrs. Toon denied that he had used such language. Decision in the case was reserved. CHARGES AGAINST A POLICE CAPTAIN. used such language. Decision in the case was re-
